MEDICINES SECURITY INSTITUTE

MSI media kit

Institute description and founder biography | 13 October 2026

Institute

The Medicines Security Institute is an independent research initiative advancing medicines security, pharmaceutical resilience and global health policy through evidence, strategic intelligence and international collaboration. It has begun research operations and is developing formal governance.

Founder biography

David Yusuf is Founder and Executive Director. A pharmacologist and senior human-resources and operations executive, his work connects scientific understanding, organisational capability, leadership and national resilience.

Brand resources

Vector and image logos are available at medicines-security.org/media-kit. Use without alteration for accurate identification. Partnership branding requires permission; use does not imply endorsement.

Media contact

contact@medicines-security.net. Please specify your organisation, topic, intended use and deadline. Commentary availability and attribution must be agreed.